Traceability through Product Marking

Bio Planète, the first European purely organic bio-oil-mill is specialised on premium organically manufactured edible oils. All incoming raw materials are issued a batch number which accompanies the oil from the delivery through all processing steps until the oil is bottled. Subsequently, the same is printed on to the oil bottle label together with the designation of origin of the raw material. This warrants for an all-over documentation system that covers the product from the raw material to the finished product. In addition, the use-by date and the origin of the seed are also printed on to the label. For the marking of the oil bottles, the company deploys two absolute-printers provided by aps Alternative Printing Services which are based on the reliable and clean thermo-inkjet technology.
